

Society for Muscle Biology, Inc.

Privacy Policy

The Society of Muscle Biology respects the privacy of its members and website users and is committed to protecting personal information in accordance with applicable data protection laws and professional standards.

Information Collection and Use: We collect personal information necessary for membership services, including contact details, professional credentials, research interests, and payment information. This information is used to provide membership benefits, facilitate networking, distribute communications, process payments, and improve society services. We may also collect website usage data through cookies and analytics tools to enhance user experience and measure engagement with our content.

We do not sell, rent, or trade member information to third parties for commercial purposes. Limited information may be shared for legitimate Society business such as committee assignments, award nominations, or collaborative research opportunities, always with appropriate member consent where required.

Members have rights to access, update, or request deletion of their personal information, subject to legal and operational requirements.

Contact and Updates: Questions about this privacy policy or requests regarding personal information should be directed to the Society by submitting an email via the contact form at the bottom of the Governance page of the Society for Muscle Biology website. This policy may be updated periodically to reflect changes in practices or legal requirements, with notice provided to members through standard communication channels.
